

JULY 2016

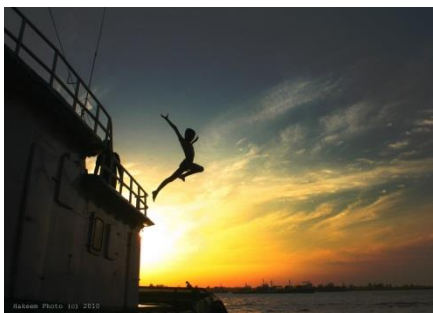

Welcome to our new monthly newsletter. In coming months we'll be highlighting U3A news, successes, upcoming events and notices. Feel free to contact the editor Fran Davidson tasfran@bigpond.com with items you would like included.

TERM THREE - JULY 25 – SEPTEMBER 17

The winter months mean warmer climes beckon us or ills and chills strike us low with the resulting drop off in course numbers. It will be noted that several courses have been temporarily discontinued: Vive le France, French, Discussion Group and Sucked in by Cryptics. But to compensate we have an exciting new course:

PHOTOGRAPHY

TUESDAY 10-12, MEETING ROOM,
BEACONSFIELD ONLINE CENTRE

Who wouldn't like to take better photos, even with mobile phones? U3A now welcomes newly-retired press photographer with The Examiner, Geoff

Robson who will conduct a course in photography. He will cater for all levels of experience and equipment, beginning with composition and lighting and flowing on to the technical side of camera operation, photo-shop and location shooting, depending on student interest.

BONSAI – Just the type of gardening to enjoy in winter - you don't need to go outside. Tutor Graham Paskins would love to welcome new students to learn this ancient art.

Monday 10.30 - 11.30 Tresca

COFFEE AND CHAT

These popular gatherings are held on the first Friday of each month. It is a wonderful chance to meet other members, make friends, share stories.

The next morning tea is being held at the Riviera Hotel at Beauty Point on August 5.

Please RSVP to Sherelle Hogg 63943757

SHORT TALKS. Third Thursday of the month, 10.30 B'field House
On June 16, about 20 people attended Danny Masters' address on wills and estate planning, including discussion of powers of attorney and estate disputes.
Next talk to be notified.

OTHER EVENTS:

WINTERLIGHT - FESTIVAL OF VOICES JUNE 30 - JULY 17
Begins in City Park at 6m, Friday 1 July. Singers and audience will join together for a procession through the streets of Launceston to Inveresk where a free concert will showcase stars of the festival and local choirs. Several U3A members are involved in this event.
